We are offering an 18 months research and applied position at University of Barcelona.

Topic: image sequence analysis for object detection, tracking, and behavior understanding using efficient deep learning strategies.

The project will start around June 2023 at the Human Behavior Understanding group (https://sergioescalera.com/).

If you are interested please contact us at sergio.escalera.guerrero@gmail.com and attach your CV to receive further information.